

Overnight local closure of Columbia Street and the East Columbia off-ramp from the stal'əwasəm (Riverview) Bridge

May 20, 2026

On Thursday, May 21, an overnight local closure of Columbia Street between McBride Boulevard and Elliot Street, and an overnight closure of the East Columbia off-ramp, will be required for concrete pours on the new East Columbia multi-use path overpass.

Drivers will be detoured to Royal Avenue or Front Street. Southbound access to the stal'əwasəm Bridge continues to be maintained via McBride Boulevard and the Royal Avenue on-ramp. Drivers travelling northbound on the stal'əwasəm Bridge will be detoured to the Royal Avenue off-ramp on to McBride Boulevard to East Columbia Street (see map below for reference).

Columbia Street west of Elliot Street will remain open and access to and from all businesses on Columbia Street and Front Street Mews will be maintained at all times. All traffic pattern changes and detours will be well signed.

While this overnight closure is in effect, access for emergency responders will not be maintained. Commercial vehicles will be detoured to designated truck routes at all times.
