

Multi-use path opening on east side of stal'əwasəm (Riverview) Bridge

May 26, 2026

The multi-use path (MUP) on the east side of the stal'əwasəm Bridge will open to pedestrians and cyclists in both directions on the morning of Monday, June 1. In New Westminster, it will connect over the new overpass across Columbia Street, and existing MUP, and sidewalk network (see image below).

Construction of the future MUP network is ongoing, and the MUP on the west side of the bridge is scheduled to open this summer.

In Surrey, the MUP on the east side of the stal'əwasəm Bridge will connect to the sidewalk and existing bike routes on the north and south sides of King George Boulevard. Cyclists using the MUP on the bridge will be required to dismount in the area shown in the image to the right, as the path is temporarily narrower while work continues to widen the road in this location. This work could not begin until the Pattullo Bridge approach was removed.
